Handwritten musical notation on a page from a manuscript. The notation consists of several staves of music, each beginning with a vertical line (a clef). The notes are written in a highly stylized, cursive script, characteristic of early Western musical notation. The ink is dark and the paper is aged and slightly yellowed. The notation is arranged in approximately 12 horizontal staves across the page.

Handwritten Japanese text in cursive (sōsho) style, organized into vertical columns. The text is dense and difficult to decipher due to the highly stylized characters. The columns are separated by vertical lines, and there are some horizontal lines at the top of the page, possibly indicating section breaks or page numbers.
