Handwritten text in cursive script, possibly a name or title.

Handwritten text in the upper right section, featuring larger characters.

Handwritten text in the middle right section.
