Handwritten Japanese text in cursive (sōsho) style, spanning multiple lines across the page. The text is written on aged, slightly discolored paper. The characters are fluid and connected, typical of the cursive style. The text appears to be a continuous passage, possibly a letter or a record, written in a personal or official capacity. The ink is dark, and the paper shows signs of wear and aging.

This is a vertical strip of a traditional Chinese ink wash painting. It features a dark, gnarled branch extending from the left side, adorned with several small, dark leaves. A small, dark bird is perched on the branch, facing right. The background is a light, textured grey, suggesting mist or a simple wash. The style is characteristic of traditional Chinese literati painting, emphasizing naturalistic detail and a sense of atmosphere.

Handwritten text in Japanese, likely a document or letter, written in a cursive style (sōsho). The text is arranged in vertical columns, reading from right to left. The characters are dark ink on aged paper. The text appears to be a formal document, possibly a letter or a report, given the structured layout and the use of specific characters and punctuation marks. The rightmost column contains the characters "南園集大略" (Nan'en Shū Daigaku), which is a title of a Japanese literary work. The rest of the text is a mix of kanji and hiragana, written in a fluid, cursive hand. There are some smaller characters and marks interspersed throughout the main columns of text.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written on aged, slightly stained paper. The script is dense and flowing, characteristic of historical Japanese calligraphy. The document is organized into several horizontal lines of text, with some lines starting with a vertical stroke (possibly a section marker or a decorative element). The ink is dark, and the paper shows signs of wear and discoloration.

東山抄

Handwritten text in Chinese characters, likely a signature or calligraphy, oriented vertically.
